AUCKLAND'S "story" to solve its turning-point issues in new role

District to demolish vacant Scott school

1929 building saw last pupils in '88

The elementary school was built in 1929 and last used as a regular school in 1988. Since then, it has been steadily rising up the ranks for more than three decades. The school was constructed in 1989 and last used as a regular school in 1988.

Criteria for demolition include:

1. The school is no longer needed as a school.
2. The building is in poor condition.
3. The building is unsafe.
4. The building is not historically significant.

The school district has determined that these criteria have been met and the building will be demolished.

UCAs's "story" to tackle its turning-point issues in new role

The University of Central Arkansas (UCAs) is facing a turning-point issue in its history. The university is facing financial difficulties and needs to find a new strategy to ensure its future. UCAs is working on developing a new plan to tackle its turning-point issues.

UCAs will work with the US Office of Multicultural Affairs and Director of Diversity and Research to increase the diversity among students, staff, and faculty members. UCAs wants to make sure that its campus is a diverse and inclusive environment.

The university is also working on developing a new academic program to attract more students. UCAs is looking at offering new majors and minors to attract a wider range of students.

The university is also working on improving its facilities. The campus is in need of major repairs and renovations. UCAs is working on developing a plan to improve its facilities.

The university is also working on improving its financial situation. UCAs is looking at ways to increase its revenue and reduce its expenses.

UCAs is working on developing a new plan to tackle its turning-point issues. The university is confident that it can address its challenges and move forward.

Sekar, John, and Alister, from the New York Times, have written an article about UCAs's "story" to tackle its turning-point issues in new role.

"It was during this time I learned hard work, education, and perseverance were the only pathways to success," he said.

Pastoral trucker Libby Clayton, 51, of Jacksonville, is a contestant on Fox's reality show MasterChef. He hasn't had much experience in the kitchen, but he is determined to prove himself. The show is a popular reality show that features home cooks as they compete against each other to become the master chef.

Clayton is a professional trucker and has been on the road for much of his life. He is used to working long hours and has been able to balance his work and family life.

"This is a story of my search to rise above my circumstances. It's the story of my rise from the bottom to the top of the trucking industry," he said.

Clayton is a native of Arkansas and has been a professional trucker for over 15 years. He has been able to support his family and save enough money to buy a house and a new car.

"I'm proud of that," he said. "I did it on my own and I'm happy with what I have accomplished."

Clayton is now working with Overdrive, a magazine that covers the trucking industry. He is trying to find more opportunities in the trucking industry and is looking for ways to improve his skills.

"I'm always learning," he said. "I'm always trying to improve myself."

Clayton is also working with the Arkansas Trucking Association to promote the trucking industry and to help other truckers.

"I'm proud to be a part of the trucking industry," he said. "It's a tough job, but it's rewarding."

Clayton is looking forward to the future and is planning to continue working in the trucking industry. He hopes to be able to buy a new truck and travel the country with his wife and children.

"I love the life," he said. "I love the freedom. I love the adventure."

Clayton is working hard to be the best trucker he can be and is determined to succeed. He is looking forward to the MasterChef finale and is excited to see what the judges have in store for him.

"I'm ready to take on any challenge," he said. "I'm ready to give it my all."
North Little Rock notebook

Public library sets 4 author lectures

The William F. Laman Library's annual Author Trio lectures will be held at 6 p.m. each Thursday at the library, 2100 S. Main St., beginning July 5. The series begins June 28 with Mark Twain discussing his latest book, Civil War Arkansas (1861-65): The Battle for a State. The state is the first book-length study of the Civil War battles and campaigns in Arkansas during its three-year involvement in the conflict on the struggle between Union and Confederate forces to control the Arkansas River Valley.

To reserve tickets, call 384-2967.

North Little Rock firefighters plan to travel to Maine to deliver the supplies.

North Little Rock is asking 9 volunteer firefighters to help as hosts for 9 South Korean students who will visit the city July 25-28, as part of the Sister City Sommers Youth AmbassAdor Program with Ut- aehang City, South Korea.

Prefored are families with children in the same age range (9-14 years) who would like to host a student and their family. The program was sponsored by the City of North Little Rock, the South Korean government and cultural and social activities and the students will be guided by the city's officials and their host families.

Families are to host a South Korean student for 9 days and incorporate the student into their daily routine. The host family's child in age to the visiting delegate will then be able to visit South Korean families in their family's future. For more information, contact the City of North Little Rock, 300 N. Main St., 501-372-8400.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Registration open for theater camp

Registration is under way for The Arpana Community Theater's third annual theater camp, running July 8-18 in the Mill Town Neighborhood in a Southern Gateway Arts Complex.

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.

Firefighters taking Moore donations

As part of the relief effort for tornado-ravaged Moore, Okla., the North Little Rock Little League will be a beneficiary of the camp. The camp, run by AT&T, will provide clothing for children who lost their homes and trade and also fills through June in cooperation with the city and the chamber of commerce.